Regional Highlight- Siemens Argentina

Shannon Jacobus
Shannon.jacobus@siemens.com

In the last year, Siemens PTI has expanded their international office locations to reach Argentina, providing the energy market in Argentina, Chile, Uruguay and Paraguay the adequate support for the entire Siemens PTI portfolio. In October 2010, Siemens Argentina hosted the first Siemens PTI Day to introduce the Siemens PTI portfolio to customers. During the two day event, presentations covered a wide range of material including: features of PSS®E, PSS®SINCAL, MOD® and PSS®ODMS and overviews on Siemens Power Academy TD and Network Consulting services. Specific presentations were also given on the integration and design of wind parks to electric power systems using PSS®E and PSS®SINCAL and the analysis of reactive compensation and voltage control in large transmission networks. With great success, Siemens PTI Day had more than 80 participants from more than 30 companies in the power utility sector, consulting services, universities and government regulatory organizations.

In an effort to provide continuous support and solutions for Siemens PTI customers, Siemens Argentina, with the collaboration of Siemens PTI USA and Siemens Power Academy TD, recently offered a course on PSS®E – Introduction to Power Flow and Steady State Analysis. This course was provided in Buenos Aires at the Siemens training center facilities, located in the San Martin area. The training course was intended to provide novice users with hands-on experience using PSS®E, as well as introducing the program functions for power flow and fault analysis. The topics included power flow modeling data, one-line diagrams, power flow solutions and reports, program automation, response files, IPLAN and Python, contingency and transfer limit analysis and more. The course was well received by users, being the first course to be delivered in Buenos Aires and also the first course to be taught in Spanish.

Siemens Argentina is proud to provide the energy market with adequate support for the Siemens PTI portfolio, not only in Argentina, but also Chile, Uruguay and Paraguay. If you need support with the Siemens PTI portfolio or if you’re interested in taking a course at the Siemens training center in Buenos Aires, please contact the manager of Siemens Argentina, Sergio Zanor at sergio.zanor@siemens.com or by phone at +54 11 43408400 2790.